Greenbuild's platinum sponsor, Sloan Valve Company, the world's largest manufacturer of water-conserving plumbing systems and recent recipient of the EPA's Green Power Leadership, is hosting a media press conference on Wednesday, November 7, 2007 at 2:00 p.m. in the Greenbuild Press Conference room. One of Sloan's principals, Graham Allen, will lead discussion on Sloan's "green" initiatives and products. Situated in booth # 1100 near the Greenbuild show entrance at McCormick Place West, Chicago, Sloan plans to unveil six new water and energy-conserving products.

Public restrooms changed forever with Sloan's revolutionary Flushometer design 100 years ago. Today, Sloan has a mission to become the greenest plumbing company in the world.

Sloan offsets 100 percent of the electricity used in its world headquarters and manufacturing facility in Franklin Park, located just outside of Chicago, through a landmark purchase of renewable energy credits. As "green" leaders, Sloan is the largest renewable energy purchaser in the plumbing industry and the largest corporate purchaser of renewable energy credits in the State of Illinois.
