How to install the Widget?

You can post our Food Lists directly on your site, and FoodEssentials will automatically link to your article. It's easy:

- Search for the Food List that you want (in the search bar above)
- Click in the "Embed this list on your website" bar (see illustration below)
- Copy the embed code and paste on your web site

The screenshot shows the FoodEssentials.com search interface. At the top, there are three numbered steps: 1. Search for foods - and what you care about; 2. Find food lists & compare by what you care about; 3. View complete nutrients, allergens and additives. Below this, a search bar contains 'Color free cereal'. The results page shows a list of products under the heading 'Sesame Seed Free Chips & Snacks - Multigrain Snacks'. A red circle highlights the 'Embed this list on your web site' button, which contains the following code: `<div class="`. Below the code, there is a link: Click here for more information.

Retailers & Publishers

There are a variety of opportunities for Retailers and Media Companies to incorporate FoodEssentials data into existing media, H&W programs and applications from the widget above, custom widgets and full API's.
