

Katie Hagar

Racing Contestant

Episode Airs Saturday, February 25, 2011 at 3 p.m. ET on ABC

Katie Hagar

Age: 25

Resides: Mooresville, NC

Full of sass and driven to be the first female racer who ever built her own car, Katie discovered her passion for racing at a young age. While most of her peers were headed off to college following high school graduation, Katie went a step further. She attended classes while racing and working. In 2008, Katie was accepted into NASCAR's official Diversity Development school. While there, she raced in California and around the country. She currently works as a welder in a North Carolina race shop by day, and builds her own racecar by night. Katie dreams that 2012 will be the first time she can compete on her own terms, in her own car.
